Profile:

Claire Dykeman's practice focuses on both construction litigation and alternative dispute resolution, in which she represents general contractors, subcontractors, suppliers and owners in a variety of construction related disputes, as well as labor and employment litigation.

Prior to joining the firm, Claire served as a judicial clerk to both Magistrate Judge Keith F. Giblin of the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas, and Judge W. Kent Walston in the 58th Judicial District Court of Jefferson County. In addition to her judicial internships, she was selected as a 2L summer law clerk for Andrews Myers. Claire also served as a special assistant to Baylor University's Washington D.C. Initiatives program, coordinating university events and developing their internship policy program.

Representative Experience:

- Assist in the representation of owner, general contractor and subcontractor clients on a variety of different matters including breach of contract claims, settlement negotiations, lien removal and debt collections
- Ongoing representation of contractors and suppliers in obtaining collection of past due accounts
